Couple to Observe Their 75th Wedding Anniversary Thursday

Thursday October 13 is a dramatic day for the Central Texas community of Chriesman, six miles from Caldwell, in Burleson county because Mr. and Mrs. D. 3. Worcester celebrate their 75th wedding anniversary.

Their entire lifetimes have been spent in Central Texas, around Caldwell or Cameron, in the adjoining counties of Milam and Burleson, where Worcester was a cattleman and farmer.

Mrs. Worcester was born July 29, 1862, as Jessie Ann Todd, at Maysfield, in Milam county, where she lived until she married. Her brother. Robert Todd, was a longtime sheriff of Milam county. Her parents came to Texas from Georgia, where her father was a lawyer. During these early days in Texas, her father often freighted for the settlers in Cameron.

Same Background

Theirs was the same background. His parents came from Illinois, where his father knew Lincoln. His father was a boy of 15 when he arrived in Texas and 500 acres of land sold for about $125.

Worcester was born in Jan. 6, 1861, near Cameron. He walked two miles to school, where the benches were made of logs six to eight feet long, hewed smooth. They had no desks.

At home, the house where he was born, the doors were put on with wooden hinges; and the chimney was fashioned of sticks and dirt.

Still Active . . .

It's been a long time since Worcester courted "Queen", as he calls her, after they met at a square dance. When they celebrate their anniversary, she will wear a pink outfit designed and made by her niece, Mrs. Maurine Neumann.

The Worcesters are active and alert. Of their nine children, five are still living, all close by in Central Texas, and all will be there for the anniversary.

Love and Christian faith, the Worcesters say, are their secret for a long life and a memorable marriage that dates back to Oct. 13, 1880.

The need for the community center was also stressed by the speaker. He reminded his listeners that $1,000 has been allocated by the Chest for the next ten years for the purpose of aiding in construction of the center.

Expansion Of School Milk Program Seen

Expansion of the special School Milk program is in prospect for this year, reports Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz.

The Special School Milk program was authorized by Congress to increase consumption of milk by children in nonprofit schools of high school grades and under. It was first operated during the 1954-55 school year. The program was administered nationally by the department's Agricultural Marketing Services, and within the states by the state educational agencies.

Texas reported 1329 schools with 305,328 pupils participating in the program last year. During the period there was an ncrease of 18,-235,000 half pints of milk consumed by Texas school children. Federal expenditures for the program in Texas amounted to $718,000.

On June 16, the Department of Agriculture announced modification of the program to permit more schools to participate.

"We expect a better record this year because of the improvements which have been made in the program. Reports show that many more schools will be taking advantage of the program than in the previous year."

The records of the complete program show a total of 41,460 schools with 8,674,328 children taking part.

Half Day's Pay Paves The Way To Success The Red Feather Way

Monday, Oct. 10, marks the first day of Community Chest Drive in Cameron, Texas. The Chest goal has been set at "Half a day's pay" with a $5640 budget. A breakdown of the budget is as follows: Welfare Fund, $1,000; Emergency Fund $100; Boy Scouts $1800; Girl Scouts, $1000; Milk Fund, $540; Hospitalization, $200; and a new fund the Community center fund, $1000 has been placed in the budget for this first time this year.

Your contribution will go far in that a certain percent will, for instance, go for the milk fund. This fund is combined with the lunch fund to provide school lunches and milk for under privileged children in the Cameron public schools. A percent will go to supply financial assistance to leged children in the Cameron public schools. A percent will go into the Emergency Hospital Fund to supply financial assistance to provide hospital care for indigent persons who are residents of Cameron.

Then other funds, the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts - what more could you get for your money than to help build characters for the future citizens of Cameron.

Think it over, and remember You can Pave the Way with Half a Day's Pay!"

A negro boy was fatally injured in a fall from a truck on the Gibson farm near Jones Prairie on Thursday Oct. 6.

Henry Alonzo Johnson, of Calvert, 12, was a cotton picker on the Gibson farm. He apparently tried to board the moving truck driven by C. P. Cooper, Jr., a colored laborer also on the Gibson farm when his footing failed him, throwing him under the wheels of the truck and killing him instantly. Inquest was held by John Thweatt in his Justice Court at Maysfield.

Johnson was staying at the home of his grandmother while working for the Gibsons.

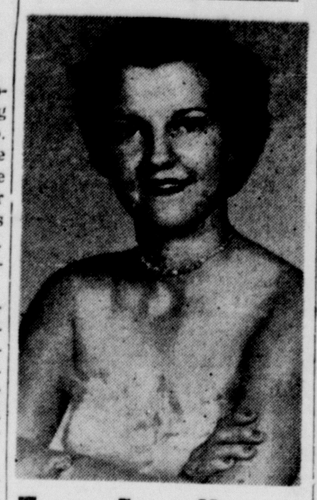
Milano Collision Kills Mother; Injures Infant



Death struck on the highway at Milano at 4:30 Wednesday taking the life of the 24 year old mother of a six weeks old baby.

The baby was brought to St. Edwards Hospital in Cameron and found to have suffered only a broken leg and was otherwise described by the doctor as in good condition Thursday morning.

The collision involved three cars including that of H. F. Huebner of Route 1 Cameron.

Huebner told Sheriff Black, investigating officer, that he had been noticing the approaching car, driven by Edgar Jones 40 of Gause with Walter Ruddick, 17, also of Gause, as a passenger, trying to pass him. The 1946 Ford Tudor driven by Jones finally swerved around the Huebner car only to meet the 1955 Oldsmobile 88 driven by Mrs. Williams. The Jones car swung around into the path of the Huebener car, reports the Sheriff and caused damage to the front end of that car.

Mrs. Williams was killed in the head - on impact.

Jones was treated for a broken right shoulder and other painful but not serious injuries and allowed to go home while 17 year old Walter Ruddick was hospitalized for more complete observation. His face was a mass of cuts as a result of being thrown through the windshield.

Mrs. Williams was picked up by Phillips and Luckey of Rockdale and later transferred to a Caldwell funeral home.

No one in the Huebener car was injured.

Mrs. Williams' survivors besides the baby, include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kornegay of Chrisman, and her husband who was enroute from Taylor to Houston with the Jimmy Heap band at the time of the accident. He was being contacted by authorities.

Yoe Ends Pre-Season; Point To Ducks

Yoemen failed to score in their battle Friday night which failed to shake the hosting Kangaroos from their undisputed Cen-Tex pedestal. The Killeen team racked up twenty points and coach Buckley was glad to come out of the game with any one of the points.

'The stubborn Cameron Yoemen' is the way one sports writer lead his account of the game. Another writer, from Killeen, admitted that his home team would lose prestige from the Cameron tilt. The summation of it all is that Cameron stay-at-home followers of the game can only judge results by the score while followers of the teams (who saw the game) can vouch for the age-old truth " ... It's how they played the game."

If Steve Polzer is not engraved on the memory of Coach Buckley or his fine back Jack Redding then the number 60 stands out vividly as though there were eleven Yoemen with that number on their jersey in 'Roo Park.

The defensive end play of Benny Massengale was good, very good and Collins and Bobby Williams turned in good accounts of themselves against the vaunted and worthy opponents. Burk Barr turned in an outstanding performance at defensive end while Paul Hoelsher opened nice holes for his teammates in the backfield to make good gains through. This is not all that could be said about individual play because the score seemingly gives a lie to talk about stellar performances by the Yoemen but nonetheless individually and collectively Cameron's Yoemen played, if not over their head as a team, a game that leaves little anxiety in the heart of their coach Jackson. The Killeen game was the "final exam" of the Yoe pre-season. Now with a rest next week, the second semester begins with the play-for keeps game with Taylor and her Ducks.

To say that the Yoemen showed its best offensive in its defensive play is a way of underlinnig the fact that they have learned one pre-season lesson well which could be paraphrased by "Never give a sucker a chance." They were down the field en masse on punts and kick-offs. They just didn't give the opponents time to even tuck the oval under their arms before the whistle stopped the play. This is all the news behind the news of the final pre-season game of the Yoemen. Killeen was the final exam which coach Jackson and his staff needed to finally whip their charges, in two weeks, into the team which again is pointing toward a district championship in '55.

Three of Milam county's representatives led individual discussion groups. Rev. John Solomon was the leader of group three, What Are Our School Building Needs. How Can We Get Good Teachers and Keep Them was led by Mr. Pruett. Dorcas Smith was the leader of group six How Can We Obtain Public Interest in Education.

The next meeting, on the state

The nert meeting, on the state level is to be held in Austin, Oct. 31 - Nov. 1. Delegates to the national White House Conference will be chosen at that time.

If a LION should show up at your door, in the near future, do not be frightened and do not call the law. He will not bite ... he will be a friendly Lion and in the first place he will not show up unless you INVITE him.

The crippled children home and camp will benefit this year from the sale of Christmas Cards by the Lions Club it was decided at a meeting of the board of directors Thursday night.

Fifty percent of the gross received from the sale of the cards will be turned into the fund for the crippled youngsters, officials stated. This, to emphasize, is not half the profit but half of the gross income.

The greeting card company selected packages 21 beautiful Yule cards in a box and the Lions will retail them at the popular price of only $1.25.

All the patron needs to do is drop a postal card to LIONS, Cameron, and as pointed out, a Lion will appear at your door with a display in hand for easy selection by you the customer - benefactor.

When the price of the cards are broken down we find that the single card cost is less than six cents. Then when we consider that THREE CENTS goes to the children it means that you buy cards which you couldn't find in stores for less than ten cents up coming to you for only three cents. On top of that you can consider the smiling countenance of a Lion coming to see you. That one factor alone might run the supply of cards low so you will wnat to write for yours soon before the supply is exhausted. And remember "That Lion is Probably Somebody's Pet."

OIL PROGRESS WEEK
OCTOBER 9-15

Research Paces Oil's Progress

There are three reasons why America's petroleum industry has been able to supply the ever-increasing demand for energy called for by our mechanized way of life: 1, it has fearlessly invested its capital in the hazardous search for oil and gas; 2, it has steadily expanded its facilities; and 3, it has conducted endless research to find better, more efficient ways to make the oil products America needs.

Research! That's the key to the petroleum industry's progress. And the Humble Company assures itself a place of leadership in this field with two great research laboratories.

In the Humble Research Center in Houston scientists and engineers study all phases of finding, producing, and conserving oil and gas.

In the Research Laboratory at Humble's Baytown, Texas, Refinery, highly skilled technicians seek to develop new and better petroleum products, to improve those we already have, and to develop methods for making these products more efficiently.

Just as America's progress depends on oil, so oil's progress depends on research.

Heavy Clay Soil Is S.C.S. Display In Herald Window

Know your soils is the subject of a display by the Soil Conservation Service in a window of the Herald. This display will be changed from week to week and it is hoped that the general public will drop by and study the display if gardening or farming is a hobby or a livlihood.

HEAVY CLAY SOILS

This week's display shows two kinds of soil - Soil units 2 and 4 - which are common in this area on upland flats and heavy creek bottons. Soil unit 2 is the deep, black to dark gray, heavy lay soil of the prairie. Soil unit 4 is the deep, dark colored, heavy clay bottomland soil.

These two kinds of soil are found in different locations, but are very much alike in their natures. They contain a lot of clay, get sticky when they are wet, and crack deeply when they are dry. The large amount of clay in these soils causes them to be able to store a lot of water and food for plants to use, but this soil takes up water rather slowly unless it is cracked. The mineral particle in these soils are small and irregular in shape, and the spaces between them are very small. This causes the movement of water, air, and plant roots to be rather slow.

The prairie soil occurs on all kinds of slopes, but the bottom soil is mostly flat. For that reason, the prairie soil, where sloping, is apt to wash while the bottom soil seldom washes badly. However, the cultivated bottom lands are apt to be damaged by floods during seasons of heavy rains. Both of these soils are naturally hard and tight, and they get harder and tighter when they have been cultivated or a long time. When that happens, plant roots have a hard time moving through the soil, and water and air do not get into the ground like they should. Cultivation causes the humus to burn up quickly and the organisms wind up without anything to eat. Consequently, many of them disappear and some of the work that the organisms are supposed to do, does not get done.

These soils must be kept open and have a continuous supply of roots, leaves and stalks of plants to keep the organisms operating satisactorily. The best way to do it is to grow plants with deep, strong root systems, like King Ranch bluestem, native grasses, Johnson grass or alalfa, which stay on the land for several years at a time, and are rotated with row crops. The grasses might be mixed with a legume like Madrid clover. Grazing or cutting for hay has to be handled in such a way that the plants make enough growth each year to do the job.

Other ways of keeping the soil open and providing organic matter are to grow small gain and legume mixtures, legumes such as Hubam clover, peas, or vetch, in rotation with row crops. The fiberous rooted plants, such as small grain, do not have much effect on the deeper parts o the soil, but do keep the top ew inches in good shape.

The success 'o any o these methods depends on the way the land is plowed and cultivated, and the way the plants are managed. The land should not be plowed any more than is absolutely necessary, and especially not when it is wet. The plants have to make enough growth to furnish organic matter and have to be on the land during the seasons of hard rains to reduce soil washing.

FirePrevention Calls For Fighting Cause

Fighting the cause of fires is the way Cameron's Volunteer Firemen are "celebrating" Fire Prevention Week in Cameron.

Forty - five dollars has been distributed among three schools here as prize money for posters drawn by the students who will depict in their individual ways fire safety in the home.

"Fire prevention begins in the home" Johnny Anders. told hs KMIL audience Monday morning, kicking off Fire Prevention Week.

Three - fourths or 7,500 out of 10,000 fires in Texas in 1954 were in the home Anders said. He added, "Fires do not just happen 95 percent are caused or, to say the least, are preventable," the Fireman Secretary said matches and cigarettes cause more the 25 percent of home fires, home appliances and faulty wiring, installed by inexperienced (not - bonded) electricians come in for a large share of the home fire causes he added. Oily mops and rags in closets make a perfect set - up for combustion also.

There were 407 fire deaths in Texas last year and insured fire losses aggregating more than $33 million dollars.

1954 insured losses in Cameron were $43,462 and to date in 1955 $19,563.

As a set of rules for behaviour in case of fire Anders enumerated:

1. Be calm.
2. Telephone No. 64 (memorize that number) 64.
3. Clear the home or building of people.
4. Use fire extinguishers if available.
5. Do not follow the fire engine or get too close to the fire.

Officers in Cameron Fire Department are Chief, Carl Black; Fire Marshall John P. Eanes; Secretary - treasurer Johnny Anders. Other Board members are Edwin Kohutek, Henry Michalka, Bill Burns, John A. Smith and Dean White, physician is Dr. C. G. Swift and Chaplain is Rev. Davis of the Methodist church. Mascot is 9 year old Johnny Smith. Frank Richter is president and chairman of the board.

Fire Detectives Inspect In Lamasas

This Central Texas City declared all out war on fire Wednesday, Oct. 19 with a one day "hazard hunt" in every school, church and business building in town.

Inspectors will be trained 'fire dectectives" invited from the Alamo Division of the Texas Insurance Fieldmen's Association, according to Lampasas Fire Chief Leo Bales. Each of the 40 inspectors is a special agent for a capital stock fire insurance company who make the fire hazard checks as a public service, Bales said.

Sponsored by the Lampasas Fire Department and Chamber of Commerce, the blitz on blazes will be made by four men teams. They will make an attic-to-basement check, marking each potential hazard with a fire red "Fix Me!" tag. In addition, they will give the building owner or tenant a list of hazards found, together with suggestions for correcting them.

The red tags are only friendly warnings that danger exists. But the prestige of the group applying them and the support of the community usually is auusrance that they will get special attention.

Four comic characters usually serve as attention - getters at fire hazard inspections. They are the "Fifth Horseman," representing fire itself; a "Fire Demon," replete with pitchfork and horns, "I Didn't Belcieve in Fire Prevention," a man in a barrel who presumably played with fire once too often; and "Stupid Carelessness," a fumbling clown who "accidentally" manages to start harm less demonstration blazes, giving the local fire department a workout.

Lampasas school children will play an important role while the trained experts are concentrating on the business district. With inspection blanks provided by the Fieldmen's Association, they'll help parents conduct home inspections.

"It's our way of helping Texas communities reduce the terrible toll of death and destruction by fire each year," says J. M. Emerson of San Antonio, president of the Alamo Fieldmen's Association

Mr. John Busker of Burlington and his children and gradnchildren and great grandchildren enjoyed a family reunion at Brenham Sunday Sept. 25. The relatives of Lott Rosebud, Burlington and Houston were present. Mr. John Busker had his 80th brithday Oct. 3.

Small-Fry Team Will Get Free Trip To Alamo

Thirty boys from somewhere in the United States will get a free trip to the Alamo, a ranch holiday, and a visit to nearby Mexico.

The youngsters will be members of the small - fry team selected to play in The National Milk Bowl, famed "little" Bowl at San Antonio, on December 10, against an outstanding Texas team.

Small - fry teams eligible for consideration are those palying in after school programs or orphanages, neighborhood clubs, private and parochial schools, and civic groups.

The Milk Bowl has all the fanfare of the The Rose Bowl and the Cotton Bowl: pre - game parties, queen contest, parade, visiting celebrities, and half - time ceremonials. This year will be initiated the First Annual Children's Pilgrimage to the Alamo, with an estimated 20,000 children coming from all parts of Texas for the visit and to witness the Bowl.

The event has national radio, TV film, movie, press, magazine, and syndicate coverage greater than most college bowls. Play -by play is carried by as many as 309 radio stations in the nation. Live telecast will be added this year. Red Grange describes the game as the "world series of small-fry elevens." Players weigh no more than 110 pounds and are not over 14 years of age.

On the board of directors are Texas notables, including Governor Shivers, Senator Price Daniel, Hugh Roy Cullen, Jesse H. Jones and Glenn H. McCarthy.

Interested persons should write: Harry Evens, general chairman, The National Milk Bowl, 110 Chichester Street, San Antonio, Texas.

Waco Hotel Scene Of Cancer Forum

Final program arrangements for the fifth annual meeting of volunteers in District 12 of the American Cancer Soriety, Texas Division have been completed, according to an announcement by Karl Kelly, chairman of the McLennan County Unit, host for the event.

More than 75 leading volunteers from the 16 counties comprising District 12 have indicated that they will attend the one day meeting which will get underway at 9:30 a.m. Friday Oct. 14 with registration at the Roosevelt Hotel in Waco.

State, district, and county leaders will discuss community cancer control at morning and afternoon sessions. Highlight of the meeting will be a luncheon which will also be attended by members of the Scott and White Clinic of Temple.

Hubert Johnson, District Director, will preside at the opening session. Others taking part in the program are Karl Kelly, Dr. Howard O. Smith of Falls County, and Mrs. Jud Collier, also a District Director. Dr. G. V. Brindley, Sr., president elect of the American Caner Society, will speak during the afternoon session.

"Cancer control," Kelly stated, "is not effective unless the people in our communities know the facts of cancer and are able to act on this knowledge."

IT is hoped, he said, that every civic, church and service organization in this area will send representatives to learn the facts of effective community cancer control at this meeting, for we are very much in need of additional volunteers to participate actively in our program throughout the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wiggs and Dr. and Mrs. E. O Smith were guests at an after game party in Killeen Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin of Corpus Christi visited their aunt Mrs. Lottie S. Bigbee this weekend.

Soil Display In Herald Window Create Interest

A change of the Soil Conservation Service Display in the Herald window this week shows examples of kinds of light clay soils, soil 2x and 4x, which are found in this area. Soil unit 2x is a deep, reddish brown or gray, crumbly, open clay soil. It is found on chalky areas in the blackland and on soft limestone out croppings in the Grand Prairie. Soil unit 4x is also a deep, crumbly, open clay soil, but it is found in scattered areas along the Lampasas and the San Gabriel rivers. It is lighter in color than the heavy clay bottomland soil, and contains more sand. People often call it "sandy bottomland."

Light Clay Soils

These soils contain less clay than the heavy clay soils which were displayed last week. They get sticky when they are wet, but crack only slightly when they are dry. Rain soaks in the ground quickly; plant roots can move easily through these soils, and plenty of air can get into these soils. Like the heavy clay soils, there is plenty of soil depth for roots to grow in. These soils can not store as much water for plant use as the heavy clay soils. Although these soils are relatively light in texture, the clay content is high enough so as to prevent the loss of minerals through leaching. The prairie soil is usually found on slopes, where washing is a problem, while the bottomland is often damaged by floods.

If these soils are in good physical condition, in that they do not have the root, air and water restricting plow pan layer present; the main principle to follow in maintaining these soils is to keep a constant high supply of organic matter in them.

Most cultivated fields of these solis have this restricting layer. A deep rooted grass or legumes is the most satisfactory way to shatter this plow pan. The topsild needs to be kept open, and the action of the organisms working on a good mulch of straw or other crop residue on the surface is often enough too keep these soils in good shape; after they have been thoroughly conditioned for water, air, and root movement by deep rooted legumes or grasses. The best way to maintain the organic matter supply is to grow grasses, such as King Ranch bluegrasses, or legume such as alfalfa, in the rotation with row crop. Grazing or hay harvesting must be handled in such a way that the plants make enough growth each year to leave some litter on the ground. This cover will prevent washing and reduce flooding by cutting down runoff from the prairie land.

Other ways of providing the organic matter and protecting the soil are to grow small grains and legume mixtures, legumes such as hubam clover, or vetch in rotation with the row crops. Managing the crop residue to keep a mulch on top of the ground during the summer will cut down the evaporation from the soil so that the plants have more water to use.

The success of any of these methods depends on the way the land is plowed and cultivated and the way the plants are managed. The land should not be plowed any more than is absolutely necessary, and especially not when it is wet. The plants have to make enough growth to furnish organic matter, and have to be on the land during the seasons of hard rains to reduce soil washing.

1955 Improvements In Old Age And Survivors Insurance

The 1954 Amendments to the Social Security Act made significant improvements in the old - age survivors insurance program, according to James B. Marley, district manager of the Austin Social security office.

Mr. Marley said one of the amendments increased to $4200 a year the amount of wages and or self - employment income that may be credited to a worker's wage record by the Accounting Operation Division of the social security administration in Baltimore.

Social security taxes paid under the provisions of the law are deposited in the Old - Age Survivors Insurance Trust Fund from which all old - age and survivors insurance benefits are paid.

Until January 1951, $3000 a year was the most that could be credited to one person's social security earnings record from covered employment. No kind of self - employment was covered at that time. Since all benefits are based on the average monthly wages, the maximum average monthly wage was then $250. The benefit formula until January 1951 was 40 percent of the first $50, plus 10 percent of the balance of the average monthly wage. One percent of this amount was added for each year worked under social security. As a result, until 1951, $45.60 a month was the maximum benefit payable to a retired wage earner.

As a result of the increase to $4200 of the amount of earnings that may be credited to a person's earnings record in a year, starting with 1955, average monthly earnings may be as much as $350. The benefit formula is now 55 percent of the first $110, plus 20 percent of the balance of the average monthly wage. Therefore, as soon as the maximum average monthly wage of $350 can be used which will be in mid - 1956, the monthly benefit payable to a retired worker will be $108.50 and the maximum benefits to survivors will be $200.

Miss Clare Easley attended the Taylor - San Marcos game in San Marcos Friday night. She returned to Cameron Monday morning after chaperoning a girl scout overnight camping trip.

Milam-Bell County Line In Doubt As 36 Right-Of-Way Discussed

Eves dropping in on Commissioner Court Monday morning did not bring out many jewels of information except that no one kno for sure where Milam county ends and Bell county begins or vice versa, exactly that is.

In a discussion about the widening of Highway 36 the point was brought out that the demarcation of the Milam - Bell line is unclear. It was felt wise that Bell county officials be asked to consider the matter of jointly surveying the line with Milam.

Consolidation of voting boxes, there are 52 in the county, was briefly considered. It was agreed that the excessive number of boxes was a hang - over from the horse and buggy days. No action was taken.

Mr. Raymond Dees made oral application of the post of Constable, left varant by the demise of Mr. B. F. Bailey. The court is, at this time, mulling over the idea of discontinuing the office. Mr Dees assured the court that "there will be no hard feelings if you don't fill the office but I just wanted you to consider me if you do."

Mr. E. A. Camp and a group from Rockdale met with the court in the interest of closing a road in the vicinity of Alcoa to simplify mining operatons which are across the road. The exchange was agreed to by commssioners present but in the absence of Commissioner C. L. Yount, precinct 4 ,the transaction could not be concluded at this mornings session. The court decision would have to be unanimous.

Free Poulty; Egg Merchandising Classes In Austin

Consumers in the Austin area are to be introduced to something new in their grocer's poultry and egg department, according to an announcement made by A. E. Massengale, chairman of the poultry committee to the Austin Chamber of Commerce.

The poultry committee of the Austin Chamber is bringing food retailers training classes in poultry and egg merchandising, conducted by the Poultry and Egg National Board, through Oct. 20. grocers will put on white aprons and, under the guidance of Mr. Harold Rotzel, professional trained Poultry and Egg National Board Instructor, they will prepare, package, display eggs in a class room store set up in LCRA Auditorium in Austin.

Mr. Massengale stated "We are proud to sponsor this excellent program in the Austin area. Many retailers in cities and states across the nation will be reciving this training. Furthermore, we frmly believe that by following the recommended methods, retailers can show increases in their poultry and the consumer a better value. These factors are important, since they must result in more and better chickens, eggs, and turkeys for the consumers tables.

Studies show that consumption of poultry and poultry products in the United States is increasing annually as consumers learn of the delicious and nutritious values of poultry products. Experience of the Poultry and Egg National Board, the United States Department of Agriculture indicates that consumer acceptance of top quality commodities is increased tremendously when the retailer has an attractive and efficient method of merchandising.

Final Death Toll Of Tampico Flood Unknown

Eye witness reports of Salvation Army personnel from Tampico, Mexico, indicate that deaths caused by the flood will never be accurately known, even when the water finally goes down and the city can begin to dig out from the mud and debris that will be left. Capt. Alejandro Guzman of the Salvation Army in Mexico, who has been on the job since the first hurricane, says that it would be impossible to calculate the number of dead at present, and that the floods covered such a large area that the final toll will never be known.

Dan Eddy, state disaster director for the Salvation Army, who was flown in by the Navy to survey needs, says that the city looks like it is just beginning to emerge from the sea, with only the tops of a few buildings visible. The survivors are crowded on the only area not covered with water, along with goats, cows, burros, and dogs. The people who survived the flood lost all their possessions and are desperately in need of beans, corn, rice, and clothing.

The Texas Divisional office of the Salvation Army under the direction of Lt. Col. John A Morrison, divisional commander, has issued an urgent appeal for funds to help purchase the food so badly needed in Tampico. Plans are practically completed for getting the materials to Tampico quickly, where Salvation Army personnel will see that it gets to those who need it most. Contributions should be sent to the Salvation Army, 500 North Ervay, Dallas.

According to Eddy, Admiral M. E. Miles, who is in charge of U.S. relief operations in the Tampico area, says that the need for food and clothing is desperate. And it is believed that relief operations will have to be continued for a long period of time, since destruction of the city is so widespread.

Cameron Has Two $85,000 Cadillacs

by Dick Albertson

Ever hear of a Cadillac that cost $85,000?

One that has only a six cylinder engine, but that is rated at 500 horsepower?

It's a rather special model, but there are two of them in Cameron. They belong to the local National Guard unit, Battery C, 649th Anti - aircraft Artillery Battalion - and in Army nomenclature they are called M-42, twin 40 mm. gun tanks.

But they were built and delivered to the unit by the Cadillac Division of General Motors - the same company that made Marilyn Monroe's convertible.

One was received in 1954. The other - the 1955 model - arrived just before Battery C attended summer camp this year.

In addition to the $85,000 price tag - that was for the 1955 model, the 1954 cost even more - these have some other features that are different from the usual Cadillacs. The twin 40 mm. guns mounted on a turret on top, for instance. Or their weight - 22 tons - 44,000 pounds. And gas consumption is a little out of the ordinary, also. The M-42's tanks hold 110 gallons; on a tankful of gas it will travel maybe 60 miles, depending on hwat kind of terrain it must cover. But if it's a smooth high way, it can get over it a top speed of about 45 miles an hours.

Battery C is rather proud of its two models - and has announced that anyone interested may come out to the Armory and see them, preferably on Tuesday evening during the drill period, when the maintenance crews are getting some driving practice in the back area. A visitor then can see what $85,000 worth of Cadillac looks like in action, and may even, if he likes, go along for a ride.

Fewer Deductions Can Assure Tax From Wages Ample

Taxpayers subject to withholding tax should be careful that their exemption records are current, A. P. Andrews of the Temple office of Internal Revenue Service warned Monday. One of the common difficulties experienced by the servcie is straightening out incorrect withholding tax certifi cates.

Keeping one's employer posted concerning exemption status benefits both the employer and revenue service, Andrews pointed out. It enables the employer to maintain accurate records in both his own bookkeeping accounts and in his payment of these taxes to the service. The revenue service is enabled to make more quickly accuate analysis of the taxpayer's return.

If a taxpayer's exemptions have changed, he should obtain at once a new certificate (Forn W-4), fill it out and return to his employer. This should be done immediately especially when dependency changes have an application to the current year.

Such factors as marriage, divorce, the birth of a child or assumption of the support of a recognized dependent may alter an individual's tax status.

Taxpayers who find that their witholding bracket does not satisfy their tax indebtedness may if they wish reduce or omit exemption claims to increase withholding deductions to an annual total figure approximately satisfyng their tax owed. Similarly, persons with small additional incomes beyond that on which tax is withheld may follow this practice to the Arpil 15th deadline each year.

Most employers will be able to advise employees on their exemption status, Andrews said.

Dr. O. J. Currie of Denton spent Thursday night in the home of his mother in law Mrs. E. D. Kelso. Mrs. Kelso returned to Denton with him Friday.

Mrs. W. G. Gilds was the hostess for the Sarah McCalla Chapter of the DAR at her home on Thursday Oct. 6, at 3:00 p.m.

Mrs. B J. Bshkin, vice regent, called the meeting to order, and led in the reading of the ritual. After the pledge of allegiance to the American flag, Miss Alice McGehee, acting secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. National defense news was given by Mrs. J. C. Freeman. Mrs. Freeman also gave a paper on "What the Daughters of the American Revolution Do."

Mrs. Freeman brought out that any woman is eligible for membership in the National Society of the DAR who is not less than eighteen years of age and who is descended from a man or woman who, with unfailing loyalty to the cause of American Independence, served as a sailor, or as a soldier or civil officer in one of the several Colonies or States, or in the United Colonies or States, or as a recognized patriot, or rendeded aid thereto.

In duscussing the interests and various committees, Mrs. Freeman stressed the objects of the Society as:

1. To perpetuate the memory and spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence, by the acquisition and protection of historical spots, and the erection of monuments; by the encouragement of historical research; by the preservation of documents and relics and records, and by the promotion of celebrations of all patriotic anniversaries.

2. To carry out the injuction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, "to promote, as an object of primary importance, institutuions for the general diffusion of knowledge."

3. To cherish, maintain and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

The President General's message was given by Mrs. D. E Currie of Lott.

In addition to local members and Mrs. Currie, two members from Rockdale were present, Mrs. J. Beasley and Mrs H. P. Coulter. Mrs James Kahler was a guest.

The hostess was assisted by Miss Aetna Smith in serving a desert course.

Lone Star Gas Annual Report Judged Best

In the final ratings by an independent board of judges in the fifteenth annual survey of "Financial World", national weekly magazine, Lone Star Gas Company was judged as having the best annual report of the Natural Gas Utility Industry for the first time.

The bronze "Oscar of Industry" will be presented to D. A. Hulcy, president of the company, at the annual awards banquet in the grank ballroom of the Hotal Statler in New York on Monday evening, Oct. 24, 1955.

A total of 5,000 annual reports were considered this year in this international competition, and 1,895 qualified for the final screening. These were judged in 100 industrial classifications for bronze trophies. In the Natural Gas Utility Industry, Consolidated Natural Gas was runner - up for top honors, while National Fuel Gas Company placed third.

The chairman of the jury making the final selections is Dr. Perre R. Bretey, editor of "The Analysts Journal", and he was assisted by Shelby Cullom Davis, president of the National Federation of Financial Analyst Societies; Kennard Woodward, president of the Massachusetts Hospital Life Insurance Co.; and John Kanelous, distinguished artist. The screening of reports was under the direction of Nathan Bowen, president of the New York Society of Security Analysts, Inc., with the cooperation of six division chairman and sixteen investment specialists, all members of the New York Society.

Weston Smith, originator and director of the annual report surveys, will present the "Oscars of Industry" at the awards banquet, which will attract some 1,400 business and financial leaders from all over the United States, Canada and Latin America.

Credit Services To Farmers Improving More and More

Further improvements in credit services to farmers are being made by the Farmers Home Administration, Walter T McKay, the agency's Texas State Director said today.

Improvements in the management of the agency's operations were discussed at a training meeting held in St. Louis, Missouri, careful calendaring of state and county office work, public information responsibilities of agency employees, and how to get maximum use from administrative funds were discussed.

Farmers Home Administration officals attending the meeting were urged to take every step possible to further increase the participation of private lenders in the Insured Lending Program. These funds advanced by private lenders and insured by the agency along with funds appropriated by Congress are used by farmers to buy, develop and operate family - type farms.

With the expansion in our activities that has taken place in the last two years it is more important than ever before that we place our operations in high gear and give prompt and careful attention to every loan application," McKay said.

During the past year the agricultural loans made and insured by the agency reached a record total of $293,190,000 throughout the United States. Loans in Texas totaled $47,480,000.

The increased cost of developing farming systems that will make full use of a farm family's land and labor resources and provide a good income, and the emergency conditions brought on by the drought, were the main reason for the increased credit activity.

Farmers in Texas are served through 135 county offices located throughout the State.

Milam County is served by the local office located in the Henderson Building in Cameron with long - time employee of the US Department of Agriculture, Roy M. Wright in charge.

The local office is participating in the new employee training program. Mr. John Russell of Colorado City, Texas has recently been assigned to this office for training. Mr. Russell has recently been appointed County Supervisor and will return to Colorado City as County Supervisor after completing the eight - week training period in the Cameron office. Russell is a graduate of Texas A&M, since all County Supervisors must meet the high standards of being professionally trained agriculturists.

Selection of the local Farmers Home Administration office as one of several training offices throughout the State is recognition of the high type services being rendered by this office to the farmers of Milam County.

Miss Clare Easley member of the Cameron Herald Staff is spending the weekend with the girl scouts scouting around the hills of Burnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greer Wilson of Miami, Florida, accompanied by Mr. Wilson's sisters, Mrs. Anne Wilson Sexton and Mrs. Cora Belle Wilson of Dallas stopped in Cameron Thursday for a short visit and to attend to business interests in Milam county.

Poage "Caught" In Cameron Second Day In Sucession

Congressman Bob Poage dropped by the Herald Tuesday on his way to a speaking engagement before the Milano school system.

In his speech at Yoe High Monday he told of a man who made a political promise to read every bill put before the Congress. The man carried out his promise and after reading all the bills became despondent and commited suicide. This the speaker gave as his reason that no one has tried this since. 11,000 bills were put in the hopper during the last session, he said.

Poage asks his student listeners questions such as "How many congressmen do you vote for in this district?" the usual answer of one is incorrect because of the Congressman - at - large who is voted on in all districts and currently is Martin Dies of Lufkin.

Mr. Poage seemed a little miffed that he was queried as to why he was in Cameron on Tuesday when his speaking engagement was finished on Monday. "Can't a Congressman visit a town in his district two days in a row?"

A democratic senator says that Eisenhower can not and should not be counted out of the picture for a second term in the White House because of his heart attack. Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana put his views in these words: "If the President wants to run for re - election and his doctors advise him accordingly, he should be the candidate of the Republican Party.

At the same time, Mansfield says the Democrats should not count Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas out of the running for the Democratic presidential nomination. Johnson, majority leader in the senate, also is recovering from a heart attack.

Superior DAIRIES

better TASTE

The sales of superior dairy products grow and grow for one reason. There MUST be a reason.

Here in Central Texas the sale of Superior Dairies' pasteurized milk started from scratch more than 26 years ago. Today, these tales have skyrocketed into millions of quarts each year.

And here's why children and grown-ups alike, drink more and more Superior Dairies' Grade A milk each year:

1. Superior Dairies' milk is a top quality milk to start with.
2. The quality of Superior Dairies' milk is safeguarded under rigid laboratory control in Superior Dairies' own laboratory.
3. Laboratory control is your assurance that every bottle or carton of Superior Dairies' milk is of the same high quality as every other bottle or carton — day-after-day-after-day.
4. Fine milk, plus laboratory control, means that Superior Dairies' milk TASTES better.
5. And . . . most important . . . Superior Dairies' milk is delivered to your grocer . . . or to your door . . . hours fresher . . . at its peak of flavor.

It's no wonder, then, that more families in Central Texas drink more and more Superior Dairies' milk each year . . . more, by far, THAN ANY OTHER BRAND. Why accept less than the best . . . when you can get Superior Dairies' . . . Central Texas' favorite . . . milk?
